PREFACE.

In collecting coins in an Indian bázár, the many varieties which are displayed before the eyes of the collector are bewildering. A short acquaintance, however, with these varieties enables the collector to arrange them in series, each of which can be easily attributed from a study of the legends on the coins, to well-known dynasties who reigned in historical times. There are, it is true, some series which belong to kings not known to history. In the present part of the Catalogue there are over twenty series of coins described, all dealing with mediæval or modern history. With the exception of the coins of the Hindu Kings of Kabul, and of the Coins of the Sikhs, they all deal with Muhammadan dynasties. Scarcely any of the series are complete. It could not be expected that the coins of Gujarát, Malwa, Bengál and of the Bahmaní dynasty would be found extensively in the Panjab. The wonder is that so many are found. A few remarks on each series would not here be out of place, as nothing is said in the body of the book about any one of them.

Coin of the Khalifas—Of these only fifty-two are in this collection. There is no one coin that is very rare. The first one was struck in the year 80 H., the last one in 296 H. They show some of the changes which took place in the coinage of the Khalifas. They are, however, only specimens, they do not lay claim to be a series.

Silver Sind Coins—These are very numerous. No other collection has so many coins or so many varieties. The names on them are probably those of the Muhammadan governors of Sind in the first and second centuries of the Muhammadan era. There are upwards of 180 of these small silver coins, many of them were edited by that great Numismatist, the late Edward Thomas, but several types are here edited for the first time. They came into my hands from Qandahár.

Sámáni Coins—These, like the coins of the Khalifas, are only just specimens of the coinage of the Sámáni Kings.

Hindú Kings of Kából—These are numerous. One king, Bhíma Deva, is, however, not represented.

Sultáns of Ghaznî—These are in great variety. Few, however, can lay claim to great rarity, or to being unique. The coins of Naṣr, the brother of Mahmúd, and of Mahmúd and Táhir, and of Wali-ud-Daulat on pages 29 and 30, are, I believe, edited for the first time. The coins of Ibrahim are numerous and interesting. Of Khusrau R̄īk so many types have not been previously edited. In the Miscellaneous Coins, those with the names of مُحَمَّد and سَمَانِي and of مُحَمَّد and سَمَانِي over the horsemen are edited for the first time.

King of Bámán.—The coins of Bahá-ud-dín were edited by Edward Thomas, but they are exceedingly rare. The Doubtful Coin which I attribute to an Amir of Muhammad bin Sám has, alas, been lost. No other coin is known with so much of the كَوْتَبُوكَه on it, or with so many titles of Muhammad bin Sám.

Sultáns of Dehlí.—These coins were collected by me to illustrate the “Chronicles of the Pathán Kings of Dehlí,” by Edward Thomas. It was my desire to secure one specimen of each coin given by him I was not successful, but as my researches extended over a period of more than twenty years, I got many specimens described by him, and many novelties not given in his book. These latter I have described in my five supplements to his work. Many novelties are, however, given which I have not described It would be tedious to note all the novelties, but some of the more important may be pointed out The four coins of Qutb-ud-dín Aibak have not been previously edited. Many of the forty-four types of Shams-ud-dín Altamsh have not been previously edited Since I sold my coins to the Panjáb Government I have met with several new types

The coins of the Rajás of various parts of India, who were contemporaneous with Altamsh, are well represented in numbers and varieties, as are also the coins of Qubácha and the Qailughás. Of 'Alá-ud-dín of Khwárezm, the types are very numerous Two coins (No 17, p 71 and No 18, p 72) of the Kishm and Bámíán mints are apparently unique, not being in any known collection. The coins of the son, Jálal-ud-dín, are also numerous, and perhaps Nos 3 and 9 are unique. There are only two coins in this collection ascribed to Changez Khán

The coins of Razia Begam are choice Mu'izz-ud-dín Bahrám Sháh is poorly represented The billon coins of 'Alá-ud-dín Mas'aúd Sháh are in great variety. Of Násir-ud-dín Mahmúd, Sháh Ghíyás-ud-dín Balban, Mu'izz-ud-dín Kaiqubád, Jalál-ud-dín Fíroz Sháh, Rukn-ud-dín Ibrahím, 'Alá-ud-dín Muhammad Sháh, and Qutb-ud-dín Mubárik Sháh, only well known types are given, but they are all good and dates are numerous.

Of Nasir-ud-dín Khusrav Sháh there are two new types not given in Thomas. Ghíyás-ud-dín Tughlaq has four types, all well-known Four coins are posthumous

Muhammad bin Tughlaq figures with forty-six types, most of which have been published before, No 6, struck at “the Pass of Dhár,” deserves notice. I formerly read Dhár as Dehli, that was a mistake. No 40 is new to numismatics, as is also No. 27. Although there are no gold coins of this king in this collection, the varieties of types render it exceedingly interesting

The twelve types here given of the coins of Fíroz Sháh call for no remarks. Only No 6 does not appear in any other collection.

The coins in the joint names of Fíroz Sháh and Fath Khan, and of Fíroz Sháh and Zafar, are well-known, as are those of Zafar alone The two coins, No 4 of Fíroz Sháh and Zafar, and the 5 coins of No 6, are published here for the first time in a catalogue. I had however, previously published them in my papers supplementary to Mr. Thomas' book.

Of Tughlaq Sháh II, out of the nine types given, four are marked “unique.” Abú Bakr has eleven types in this collection. Muhammad Tughlaq II has fourteen types, most of them well-known, except No 7 Sikandár Sháh reigned about 46 days. there are five types of his coins given here No 5 seems to be “unique.” Of Mahmúd Sháh Tughlaq only nine types are given, and of Naṣrat Sháh, his rival, only four, of which No. 1 is in gold, and is one of two known gold coins of this king.

PREFACE

Mubárik Sháh, Muhammad-bin-Faríd, and 'Alam Sháh are fairly well represented, and so are the three Lodi sovereigns

These coins of the Sultáns of Dehlí show what coins the people of India used for three-and-a-quarter centuries Gold was scarce silver was far from common mixed, or billon coins, and copper coins, were those in the hands of the people. How they made bargains in billon coins, I cannot conceive, seeing no two coins seem to have copper and silver in the same proportions. There was an immense number of small copper coins in use for small daily purchases The wants of the people were studied

The coins of the Sultáns of Bengál are very few in the collection.

The Sultáns of Kashmír are, however, fairly represented There are several novelties not before published

The coins of Jaunpúr are chiefly noticeable from the number of dated coins here given. There is no gold or silver coin in this collection.

The coins of Málwah, and of Gujárát, and of the Bahmani dynasty, are necessarily few in this collection, which was made in the Panjáb.

"South Indian Muhammadan Coins" were published first by Captain Tufnell, in his book on "Coin Collecting in Southern India" This is the first time they appear in a catalogue Six of the kings are unknown to history, although Ibn-i-Batutah mentions some of them The coins of Ahṣan Sháh, the founder of the Bahmani Dynasty, imitate those of his masters, Muhammad-bin-Tughlaq and Ghiyás-ud-dín Tughlaq

The coins of "The Family of Taimúr" might have been indefinitely extended, as they often come to the Panjab. Those here given show a few specimens only The same may be said of the "Coins of the Line of Shebání" - Just as the last sheets of this part of the Catalogue were being printed, there was a large find of Shebání Coins Of Iskandar alone no less than twenty-five new types were secured for the British Museum. Coins of a new Khán, Durvesh Ahmad, were also obtained, and one coin of S'áid Khán Together with these were some coins of Nauroz Ahmad and Pír Muhammad.

There are only a few coins of the Chaghtái Moguls and Kháns of the 'Golden Horde' in this collection

Of "Persian Coins" there are some rare specimens of Ismá'el Sháh and Tahmásp I, and of Nádir Sháh. Several of these are not to be found in any other collection.

In "Durráni and Affghán Coins" this collection is especially rich, in gold, silver and copper. Many have not been published before

"Coins of the Sikhs" might have been multiplied to any extent, but my first collection of these coins I sold to the Lahore Museum, when my paper on them had been published. After that I purchased only rare Sikh Coins. The collection thus made contains therefore many novelties not in my paper. Nos. 36, 37, 38, of the copper coins, are of Maháraja Dulip Singh These have never been published before There are some other "unique" coins in copper

The "Lucknow Coins" are chiefly remarkable for their bombastic poetry. The worse the kings were, the more fulsome was the flattery heaped on them

The "Baháwulpúr Coins" exhibit many novelties not before published, in both silver and copper. They give but little information as no rulers' names are on them. They are in fact autonomous coins. They reveal, however, one fact to us,—that the State of Baháwulpúr had in it three mint towns, Baháwulpúr, Khánpúr, and Ahmadpúr.

My original object when I began coin collecting thirty years ago was to obtain coins to illustrate the interval between the time of Alexander and the conquests of Subaktagín and Mahmúd. By the time I had secured specimens of some of the coins of the Græco-Bactrian and Indo-Scythian Kings, I had obtained an insight into the capabilities of the bázars of the Panjáb cities in the matter of the supply of old coins. It became a habit with me to purchase everything which I had not seen before, and the study of these curiosities supplied me with something always new and exciting. This second part of the Catalogue of my coins shows some of the results obtained. After some years, when I saw how little the coins of the Moguls were known, I gave myself almost entirely to the study of them and to the perfecting of my Mogul Collection. The first part of the Catalogue shows the results of my work.

It is certain that any one possessed of money, time, and the necessary amount of learning, could in India, working steadily at any of the series of coins described in this Catalogue, make a pretty complete collection, even now. But I question if so many series will ever be attempted again. Officers in the Civil Service have no time for acquainting themselves with Indian Numismatics. Military Officers have constantly multiplying duties imposed upon them. There is a very small independent educated element in Indian Society which could devote time to the work. Amongst Native educated gentlemen there is a class rising, from amongst which it is hoped students of the History of India, and Interpreters of its many historical riddles, may arise. These gentlemen with ancestral wealth and means, and with time at their disposal, and possessing an education to enable them to employ time and means wisely, will be not only patrons of research but themselves engaged in the work. Their private Libraries, and Museums, and Collections will be the resort of less-favoured learned men, and in course of time the beginnings made by foreigners, like myself and others, will be spoken of as "those early attempts to illustrate the history of our country, made by foreign students who worked for a few years and then disappeared from the country, leaving behind them only a few notes on Numismatics and Antiquities."

When the Government of India and the Provincial Governments can give more attention to the encouragement of Archaeological research, we may expect the rising generation of educated Native gentlemen to do something themselves. Just now however, the Governments are hampered with want of funds for everything except urgent necessities. It speaks well for the Government of the Panjáb that, in spite of its being so severely handicapped, it was able to secure possession of this large collection of coins, which, at any rate, forms a nucleus for a larger and more complete collection, and which no numismatist of the future need consider it a disgrace to assist in completing.

These coins are imitations of the coins of Samanta D'eva. They have above the horse's head names of Sultans of Ghazni. They were probably struck in the Panjab in the reigns of Mas'aûd I and of his brother Muhammad. Coins are known bearing the name of Maudûd

In the inner circle is سَمْعَةً The outer circle is partly legible for a few letters only. In the small inner circle the words above محمد سام have not been made out. Three lines of the legend are not as yet read.

In a dotted circle, outside which is a lined circle, outside which was a circular legend —

In seven lines

الله لا إله إلا هو أنتي القبور
لا تأخذ سنته ولا يوم له مافق
السموات و ملائكة الأرض من دا الذي
يسعى عددة الأباريث علم
مادين انددهم وما حل لهم
ولا يحيطون بشعى من علمه إلا
يماشاء المسيرسا بالله إمبر

This is part of Verse 255 of the second Chapter of the Qu'án — "God! there is no God but He, the living the self-subsisting, neither slumber nor sleep seizeth him, to him belongeth whatever is in heaven, and on earth Who is he that can intercede with him, but through his good pleasure? He knoweth what is past and that which is to come unto them, and they shall not comprehend anything of his knowledge but so far as he pleaseth" The last part of the last line may be المسير شهد بالله إمبر, but he died in 529 H

* I sent this coin to the Asiatic Society of Bengal, in order to have my readings of it tested. I regret to say that it was lost after it had been examined. An account of it, with no alteration in my readings, was published in the Proceedings of that Society for January 1891

II QUTB-UD-DIN AIBAK.

(No coins of this king have as yet been found or edited. The following are in this collection and I attribute them to him. The name reads قطبی مسیحی شمسی and تاجی which belong to Muizz-ud-dín Muhammad bin Sám, Shams-ud-dín Altamsh and Táj-ud-dín Yalduz. These four coins of Qutb are similar in treatment. The name is in an area and the reverse has a bull with a name over it. They are all very rude. Further search may give to us other coins of this king.)

Thomas calls his Unique, but Pandit Ratan Narain's collection (now J. H. Durkee's) had one. So this is the third known. It will be noticed that the coin above dated 744 H. is called a Nisfe in the margin. That is unique (Coin No. 40). | | | |
